TROTSKY SLIPS DEATH'S CLUTCH, A HELSINGFORS DISPATCH SAYS

London Labor Journal is Emphatic in Branding the Russian News False

CALLS IT PROPAGANDA
Washington Officials Say There Are Now Three Rebel Movements

LONDON, March 12.—A Central News dispatch from Helsingfors says: "Trotsky has returned to Petrograd. The train which bore him had just cleared Oranienbaum when shells from the fortress of Kronstadt exploded behind it tearing up a long stretch of the line."

"According to the Finnish military frontier guards the fort at Krasnaya Gorka, on the Russian mainland near Kronstadt is again in the hands of the anti-Red rebels."

The anti-Bolshevik insurgents in the Petrograd district have attacked Peterhof and Serghievka and 8,000 Soviet troops deserted to the rebels according to a Reuter dispatch from Revel today.

The Daily Herald, organ of the British Labor party, printed the following dispatch from its Moscow correspondent dated Friday night:

"The present scare is part of a general scheme to delay trade agreements influence President Harding and lay the basis for a general spring offensive. I left Petrograd on February 28. Then all was quiet and there were no disorders. I have spoken to several travelers from Petrograd since and they have reported the city still quiet. The theatres in Moscow are open as usual. The Communist congress is in session here."

WASHINGTON, March 12.—There are no less than three distinct and separate movements of sizable proportions against the Lenin-Trotsky government in Russia, according to officials interviewed here today.

The revolt of Kronstadt, which has attracted more general attention than the others, is to many observers less significant and less dangerous to the Soviet regime than the others.

The first Praetorian guard which is now in control of Kronstadt is reported made up of disgruntled Communists who would condemn Kerensky as (Continued on Page Six)

Carl was born in his present home located near the Ohio canal, south of the village of Roscoe. He attends the Roscoe public schools and is seldom absent or tardy.

At eleven years he makes nothing at all of delivering a thirty-minute sermon, preparing it carefully and delivering it with ease and without notes. Master Hoop cares little for sports, but likes music and needlework.

CHILDREN UNDER SIXTEEN ARE BARRED FROM COURT IN HAMON TRIAL; JAKE'S DAUGHTER STAYS

AGED RESIDENT OF WARSAW VICINITY DIES LATE FRIDAY

Death due to complications claimed Dennis Taylor, aged 75, life long farmer at his home two miles southwest of Warsaw late Friday afternoon. Mr. Taylor had been ill for the past year but was confined to his bed only one week, seriously ill.

Dennis Taylor was born December 25, 1845 near Warsaw. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, pioneer residents of the Warsaw vicinity.

Mr. Taylor was an attendant of the Warsaw Presbyterian church, but on account of his ill health, Mr. Taylor was unable to attend that church regularly.

Mr. Taylor married Miss Elizabeth Porter, a resident of the Warsaw vicinity, on June 28, 1868. The wife preceded the husband to the grave in 1916.

The late Mr. Taylor followed the occupation of a farmer. He has tilled the soil ever since he was old enough to follow the plow.

He is survived by three children, John Taylor, Warsaw; Mrs. Iva Davis, Keene and Mrs. Minerva Cullison, of the late home. There are also three sisters, Mrs. John Fowler, Mrs. Joseph Haines and Mrs. W. A. McCurdy all of Warsaw and one brother, Norman Taylor of Warsaw surviving.

The funeral services will be conducted at the late home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in charge of the Warsaw Masonic lodge. Mr. Taylor was a member of that lodge for a number of years.

Burial will be made in Valley View cemetery.

Farm Bureau Meet

The Franklin Farm Bureau committee will hold a meeting at the Franklin grange hall at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening.

ARMORE, Okla., March 12.

When Clara Smith Hamon entered the court room Friday she was met with a friendly inquiry concerning her health. "I slept well," she answered with a wan smile. She wore a blue tailored suit and a white waist. The widow in her fashionable mourning attire, came into the courtroom with her children and the dead oil king's sister, Mrs. O. W. Sheppard.

When the witnesses for both sides were ordered to stand up and be sworn, the two women most vitally interested in the outcome of the trial directly faced each other. The accused woman looked straight before her. The widow gave her one piercing glance, then turned her eyes.

When all the witnesses were ordered from the court room, Attorney General Freeling asked permission for the widow to remain, the defense consented if the mother of the accused woman was allowed to stay by her daughter's side.

The attorney general gave his permission. Both the widow and the mother of the defendant will be witnesses.

Children under 16 were barred from the trial this morning by Judge Champion. The 11 year old daughter of the dead oil king was permitted to remain.

Notwithstanding a heavy downpour of rain the courtroom was filled this morning. Women were in the majority, many brot children with them, but the order of the court necessitated their removal.

Attorney General Freeling requested the charge be amended to the charge that a metallic instead of a lead bullet killed the oil king. The state will show that Clara Smith Hamon is now 29 years old instead of 27 as she claims, Attorney General Freeling disclosed in his opening statement to the jury.

"The life of Jake Hamon with Clara Smith Hamon, was one long continuous notorious adultery," he said. Twice the defendant attempted to kill the oil king during their early relations in Ardmore. Attorney General Freeling told the jury. Fearing bodily harm he took a Deputy Sheriff with him to secure some papers which she had possession of as his stenographer and refused to give up, Freeling declared. Only the intervention of the Deputy Sheriff saved Hamon's life. Freeling said the state would show. He charged that she purchased a revolver for the purpose of killing Hamon two weeks before the shooting. On another occasion she held a revolver to Hamon's stomach, the state will prove, Freeling said.

"They assaulted each other and quarreled continuously as couples engaged in illicit love affairs always do," he said.

"Doctor I am shot, Clara did it. Get me to the bed, I am going to die," Hamon said to Dr. Walter Hardy. (Continued on Page Six)

The evidence was deemed sufficient to hold Foster for a complete review of the case altho the name of Lee Cunningham, of Columbus also was brot into the hearing.

State troops on duty here are operating under the jurisdiction of the local civil authorities.

Martial law has not been declared. A call for state troops was made when a negro shot Policeman Joseph Ryan here last night. The shooting, it is claimed was due to strong race feeling which had been growing all week following the action of an unknown negro who induced 11 year old Marge (Continued on Page Six)

MAN SPENDS NIGHT ADRIFT IN ICY WATER TO TEST OUT HIS INVENTION

Oscar A. Youngren, New York inventor, enjoying his morning paper and cigar after his breakfast eaten while in the icy waters of the Hudson river.

Just to test the merits of his invention, a safety waterproof bonyon—suit for use in case of shipwreck, Oscar A. Youngren of New York city spent the night in the chilly waters of the Hudson river. With the assistance of authorities at West Point Military Academy he made the test to prove the suitability of his invention for military use. At 11:30 p. m. he entered the water, the temperature being 28 degrees. He remained floating about, half submerged among the ice cakes for ten hours, two army sergeants watching him to make the test official. At 9:25 a. m. the following morning he enjoyed a novel breakfast, using a large cake of ice for a table as he floated about breast-deep in the water. After the photograph was taken he climbed ashore and the doctor of the academy examined him and found that he had suffered no ill effects from his experience.

MILK FEEDING OF CHICKS IS URGED BY POULTRY ASSN.

At the meeting of the Poultry Committee of the Coshocton Farm Bureau, held in the customers' room of the Coshocton National bank the committee planned to carry on a milk campaign during the month of March. Five minute speakers will address all of the public meetings of the various townships of the county and emphasize the necessity of feeding sour milk or buttermilk to young chicks.

The feeding of sour milk markedly decreases the death rate and increases the vigor of the chick by enabling them to resist disease and other troubles that the young chicks are heir too.

The committee also discussed the locations of the poultry culling schools. Four of these schools in the county will be conducted by a specialist from the Extension Department of Ohio State University and are to be located in four sections of the county.

The Poultry committee of Virginia township has charge of the placing of one culling school in the southwest section. The Poultry committee of Lincoln (Continued On Page Six)

NO RENEWAL OF NEGOTIATIONS IS DESIRED BY GERMAN PARTIES

Matter Will Rest As Long As Occupation By The Allies Continues

DR. SIMONS IS UPHELD
Ambassadors Called Home From Allied Capitals to Remain Away

BERLIN, March 12.—Debate on Germany's course at the London indemnity conference opened in the Reichstag today. Dr. Timborn, leader of the Centrum party announced that he would present a resolution in the name of the coalition parties approving the rejection of the allies' indemnity demands drawn up at Paris.

The Coalition leaders maneuvered for a vote of confidence in the government. They were confident that the government would be supported by the Majority Socialists and the Nation alists.

The Lokal Anzeiger was authority for the statement that all political parties except the Independent Socialists and Communists have agreed that Germany shall not make any new step towards re-opening indemnity negotiations so long as allied troops occupy Dusseldorf, Duisburg and Ruhrort.

The position of Dr. Simons, foreign minister and head of the German delegation at London seemed to have been strengthened despite the attacks made against him, particularly by the industrial magnate Hugo Stinnes.

Before the Reichstag assembled there was much comment in the lobbies of the re-calling of the German ambassadors at London, Paris and Brussels.

At a meeting of the foreign relations committee Dr. Simons was asked why the ambassadors were called home, but he answered vaguely and gave no definite information. It was reported in the Reichstag lobby they would not return to their posts until the allied troops were withdrawn from the Rhineland.

National interest centered upon today's session of the Reichstag, the foreign minister was to announce the future German program relative to reparations and allied penalties.

There were early indications that the session would prove a stormy one.

PARIS, March 12.—If the Germans formulate new indemnity proposals we shall meet them with the same firmness that was displayed at London declared Premier Aristide Briand to (Continued on Page Six)

RESIDENTS DESIRE PAVING OF ROSCOE HILL THRU VILLAGE

A mass meeting of Roscoe citizens will be held Monday evening in the Roscoe town hall for the purpose of getting the residents' approval on paving the Roscoe hill street. This movement by the citizens of that village to have the road paved has been the main topic in the minds of the residents for several years.

County Auditor J. E. Lyons, one of the interested residents of that village, will address the inhabitants of Roscoe in the town hall Monday evening.

The Roscoe hill road, that runs east and west thru Roscoe, has been in a rugged condition for several years. The Roscoe corporation has temporarily fixed this road a number of times by grading it and using dirt and cinders in leveling it, but without avail. The residents as well as the employers of the Roscoe coal mines are advocating the road's improvement.

Germany's Economic Dilemma

WALTER RATHENAU, head of the German General Electric Co., is not only one of the ablest business men in Germany, but a brilliant writer on political economy, and in the Vossische Zeitung he describes Germany's economic dilemma in such graphic terms that the least instructed should be able to grasp his conclusion that the root of the trouble is not inflation but deficiency of production.

Money is but one kind of token (of wealth) and the other kinds have increased immensely since the French Revolution, when currency inflation was relatively more important than now. At present almost everything of value is ticketed with its paper token, and to get the true value of the mark one should divide the real wealth of Germany by the total sum represented by these tokens. He assumes that before the war this real wealth in billions of marks may have been 350 and that it may now have fallen to 200, which because of appreciation measured in gold may be increased to 250.

Against this must be set the pre-war tokens, 350, and all the tokens issued since, which he estimates at 500, making a paper total of 850. Then the true value of the mark must be at 250 to 850, or about 30 per cent of its former value. He estimates that if real wealth remains stationary paper wealth will reach 1850, reducing the mark to 14 per cent.

This is a dreary prospect, but he believes that it must be squarely faced, because the evil of inflation cannot be removed without attacking first the deeper-seated evil of which inflation is but a symptom: "We cannot live with billions of inflation, if production and consumption, imports and exports, balance each other. We cannot survive even were our debts and our inflation by some miracle to vanish—if we continue to have a deficit in production."

The moral which he draws is the necessity of hard work and stern economy, and his conclusions which could be disputed nowhere, are as valuable for other countries as for Germany.

Senator Fall And Mexico

SENATOR FALL'S outline of his Mexican policy will make some people thankful that it is the interior and not the exterior that he is to be secretary of. It is not so much the content of his letter to the National Association for the Protection of American Rights in Mexico as it is the tone that is disquieting, and not so much the fact that Senator Fall holds these opinions (they have been published before) as that they are chosen for re-publication at this moment.

Mr. Harding is expected to deal more firmly with Mexico than Mr. Wilson did. If his idea of firmness is the same as Senator Fall's there will be trouble and, perhaps a war. Fall's notion is that the American view of the controversy between the two countries should be stated in a protocol and that this protocol should be embodied in a treaty.

"So long as I have anything to do with the Mexican question," he declares, speaking as chairman of the Senate sub-committee on Mexican affairs, "no government in Mexico will be recognized with my consent which government does not first enter into a written agreement along the lines suggested." If a Mexican government refuses to sign such an agreement, "then the question would arise as to whether the United States should simply pursue a silent policy of inaction or whether it should take immediately other action directed to the protection of Americans and their interests in Mexico, and the restoration to full property rights of all Americans who have been driven from that country." What would this "action" be? Obviously it could be nothing short of a blockade of the Mexican ports and boundary lines, and it might go as far as armed intervention.

Senator Fall is fully determined that Mexico shall make obeisance to her neighbor in the north. His letter is an indignity that those familiar with Latin-American sensitiveness can fully realize. It is the message of an official of a great and superior nation to one which he considers inferior. Mr. Hughes, who is now the secretary of state, belongs on a different level, but it has to be remembered that Fall is much closer to Harding than Hughes is. The friends of peace and good-will in both countries will have to be circumspect if the menace created by the Fall influence in the new administration is to be avoided.

New York Day-By-Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 5.—On Seventh Avenue north of the Pennsylvania station is "Second-Hand Row." For several blocks the architectural progress of the city has halted leaving a row of low dilapidated buildings given over to the sale of cheap second-hand clothing and what-not. Squat men of florid face—the bush bearded of trade—stand in the gas lit doorways shouting bargains in gutteral sing song cadences.

Great stocks of shoes, hung like bananas, suspend from awnings and tables on the sidewalk are piled mountain high with disordered and soiled cast off clothing. It is a picturesque district where bargaining becomes med bickering and no sale is made without a quarrel with the salesman retreating into his shop with "Take it, Take it." Yours ruining my business, I must live. His aggrieved manner means that he has made a sharp bargain.

WALT MASON

AMBITIOUS WIVES

I've seen some husbands wet with tears who might have learned to sing and dance, had but their wives, the dimpled dears, but given them a decent chance. I'm thinking now of Hiram Hick, who presses hard against the hames, and life's to him a cruel brick because his wife has "aims." She gives a party every week, or riot of some other kind, and Hiram sees his royalties leak, she makes his assets hard to find. A tea to honor Mrs. Jones may be the proper thing to give, but Hiram's shy a hundred bones, and wonders why such females live. His wife must have a costly gown appropriate to each event, and Hiram totters thru the town and smokes a torch that cost a cent. He makes good money every year, and if his wife would mend her ways no walt might read his title clear to Easy Street and happy days. But she must trot with richer folk, and mingle with the Upper Ten, and so poor Hiram's always broke and sighing for lost time. But in his grief he's not alone; a million husbands toil and spin, and every time they earn a bone their wives go forth to blow it in. A million husbands drudge and slave and toil along on weary feet, and if their wives would help them save, they all might dwell in Easy Street.

THAT UNEASY FEELING

That dull depression, that dragged out spiritless condition—it's biliousness.

Why be out of sorts with yourself and everybody else when one dose of Sarsaparilla will do wonders for you.

ABE MARTIN

Some awful howls of protest have gone up in this country, but just wait till you hear the sigh of relief when Mr. Harding gets permanently located in the White House. What's become of the old sign, "This is my busy day?"

With the request that the friend call the number and ask for Mr. Fish or Mr. Bear is not dead. The head keeper at the Bronx Zoo reports that he receives an average of five inquiries a day for Mr. Lion, Mr. Bear or Mr. Fox. Down at the Aquarium it is just as bad.

Willard Mack wrote a play and presented it two weeks ago and it failed. Mack was recently declared a bankrupt so it is obvious that he needs money. He was not discouraged. In ten days he wrote a crook drama and produced it and hired one of the largest theatres in town out of the beaten path and he is filling it nightly.

The sleek young Lyndeccker types with the polished airs of a Tiffany clerk are quitting their jobs in a chain of New York cigar stores and seeking other pursuits. "Safety first" is their motto. Every day one or more awakens in a back room, bound and gagged with a large welt on the head as the result of a hold up. Ilusky types are supplanting them and each carries a "gat."

THE JOLLIER

Nothing remarkable about "a straight airplane flight to Cuba," but a straight flight back would be.

Someone suggests a "Be Kind to Democrats" week. Harding says it will not be officially observed until all the appointments are made.

It is easier to cling to the stereotyped platitudes and criticize the idealist than to think for one's self.

The case of a person who can't extract optimism from a seed catalog is indeed hopeless.

Germany admits that the way of the transgressor is hard, but does not admit she has been one.

France, with the largest standing army in the world, knows the war is not over until the bills are all collected.

Those Americans who reported an income of over half a million last year number 246. Who'll say how many there really were?

The Los Angeles Evening Herald ran this one: "The prisoner was arraigned on a charge of disturbing the police."

President Ebert got a raise. The German government now pays him 150,000 marks a year, which is something or other in American money.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

HARDING'S ELECTION A PRECEDENT

Editor The Tribune:
In a recent issue of your paper appeared an article in the Forum detailing the important part Ohio men have played in national politics. The writer of that article might well have added that:

Warren G. Harding enjoys the distinction of being the first man since the foundation of the United States government to be elected president while a member of the upper chamber of the Federated Congress. James A. Garfield was a member of the House and Senator-elect from Ohio, when he was chosen our Chief Magistrate, but his term as president began on the very day on which he would have become a member of the Senate.

John Quincy Adams was the first man who had served in the United States Senate to be chosen president. Andrew Jackson was elected Senator twice before he succeeded in his effort to become president. William Henry Harrison was a Senator for a few months in 1827 and 1828 before he was elected President in 1840.

Martin Van Buren served as Senator from 1821 to March, 1829, when he resigned to become Governor of New York, and was not elected President until 1836. Franklin Pierce served as Senator about four years, resigning in 1842 and being chosen President in 1852. James Buchanan was a Senator for more than ten years, resigning in 1845 and being elected President in 1856. General Benjamin Harrison served one term as Senator, being defeated for re-election, before he was chosen President in 1888. None of the other Presidents ever sat in the United States Senate. Several men who have served as such, among them Henry Clay, Stephen A. Douglas, and James G. Blaine, were candidates for the Presidency, the former twice, but no Senator in active service was ever elected President until Senator Harding won his overwhelming victory on the second day of November, 1920.

The Presidents who had Congressional experience were more numerous. Among them were George Washington, who was a delegate from Virginia to the Continental Congress, was later elected as a delegate to Congress in 1775, but did not serve; Thomas Jefferson, who was a Virginia delegate for the Continental Congress; James Madison, who was elected both to the Continental Congress and the House of Representatives; Andrew Jackson, who served during a short session of Congress; William Henry Harrison, who was elected to the Sixth Congress as a delegate from the Northwest Territory, and to the 14th and 15th Congresses from Ohio; James K. Polk, who served from the 20th to the 25th Congresses, inclusive; Abraham Lincoln, who served one term in the House from 1847 to 1848; Franklin Pierce, who was elected for the 23rd and 25th Congresses; James Buchanan, who served from the 18th to the 21st Congresses, inclusive; James A. Garfield, who was elected to the 35th Congress and continuously re-elected until the 46th Congress; William McKinley who served in the 45th to the 51st. The Presidents who had been members neither of the House of Representatives nor of the Senate were James Monroe; Zachary Taylor; Ulysses S. Grant; Rutherford B. Hayes; Grover Cleveland; Theodore Roosevelt; William H. Taft, and Woodrow Wilson.

POWHATAN, March 12.—Extensive coal development in southern Belmont and northern Monroe counties may necessitate removal of the bodies of Lewis Wetzel, Washington Wetzel and Jacob Wetzel, all famous, the former one of the leading Indian fighters in the early history of the nation. The Marco Coal Company, headed by T. K. Maher, Cleveland, has bought 15,000 acres below the Woods farm

Why March is the Most Dangerous Month.

March is the most dangerous month of the year because the change of season is more than a good many systems can stand. Too often it is true that the sick "last only till spring." But if the system is fortified, if the impurities are driven from the blood, and the nerve tissues fed with wholesome and strength-giving food medicine, there is no danger in the change of seasons. Father John's Medicine is invaluable as a tonic in the spring. It strengthens the system and drives out the poisonous waste matter—builds up the body. It is this power that has made it so successful in treating colds and throat troubles. No weakening stimulants, morphine or other dangerous drugs.

and the Cleveland & Western Coal Company, headed by Frank Taplin, also of Cleveland, has purchased 13,000 acres nearer this village.

MARTINS FERRY, March 12.—Prohibition threatens to make the housing shortage here more acute—for some persons. Mike Hoprich has filed suit in a justice's court asking eviction of Nick Mozar from Hoprich's property, alleging that Mozar is operating a speakeasy and disorderly house. Hoprich asserted he feared Mozar would be arrested on the former charge and that the Aiken liquor license tax would then be assessed against him (Hoprich) as owner of the property.

NORTH ROBINSON, March 12.—When Frank Moore hitched his horse in its accustomed place at the village elevator Sunday night and started for church, he forgot the cistern in the elevator yard. Stepping into the cistern, he received a thoro drenching. For the first time in many years, he was late to church as he had to drive back home again and change his clothing.

BELLAIRE, March 12.—A Greek, employed for two years in a local mill saved for two years so as to bring his sweetheart here to wed him. She arrived at Ellis Island where they were said to have been married. She came here. Plans for a Greek religious wedding were under way when she refused to go thru with the ceremony. She wants to return to her native land. The husband, much older than his bride, claimed to have spent over $1,000 on her. Both have engaged lawyers.

Hides In West Texas Sell At Low Prices

SAN ANGELO, TEX., Mar. 12.—Although shoes here are still selling from $8, $10 and $12, hides in West Texas are not bringing sufficient money to pay freight or express charges. A rancher at Water Valley shipped a hide twenty-two miles. The local consignee sent him a check for one cent, the balance due after the express charges had been paid. D. J. Colls, of Buena Vista, expressed five goat hides to this city, for which he received $1.50. The express charges were $1.10. A 42-pound hide from Owego brot $1.65. Express charges were $1.10.

Homeless in Vienna Now Number 40,000

VIENNA, Mar. 12.—At the municipal "Office for Dwellings" here 40,000 names are on file of people who are absolutely homeless. CHIROPRACTIC

Take care of it. If your little baby is sick, weak, puny or not properly developed in some part of the body there must be a CAUSE and nine times out of ten it is found in the spine. Do not wait with the expectation that the "baby" will outlive the weakness; have the spine examined and if necessary adjusted. Many a boy and girl has gone to a premature grave or lingered thru life a miserable cripple when a spinal analysis made in infancy would have detected some weakness which Chiropactic adjustment would have corrected.

Our baby was born December 5th, 1919. Always been sick, we had different doctors to see her. She gradually became worse—the case was finally diagnosed as decay of the flesh. We changed her food according to the doctor's advice, but she never was able to digest her food—constantly vomiting, ending with severe cramps—unable to sit up due to her weakened condition. In December, 1920, we took her to Dr. Parrish. After the first week's adjustment we noticed a decided change—which prompted us to continue. After two months taking 18 adjustments she was able to digest her food perfectly and we now feel our baby is doing fine. In appreciation of what Dr. Parrish has done for her we give the permission to use this letter in any way that will benefit other parents.

OVERTHROW OF THE GOVERNMENT

BERLIN, March 12.—Overthrow of the German government followed by establishment of a proletarian government allied with Russia, was preached at a workers gathering late yesterday.

The demonstration was staged to condemn the "capitalistic demands" of the allies at London.

There was a threat of bloodshed following the meeting. The great crowd from the Lustgarten and swarmed down Unterden Linden.

There was no organized procession, but police unlimbered their rifles and threatened to shoot if the crowd did not disperse. The crowd obeyed. The red flag was carried by hundreds and the "Internationale" was roared by ten thousand throats before speakers took the stand to declare that "the capitalists through the London proceedings desired to sentence us to hunger and slaughter."

TYPE WAS SET BY TYPEWRITER

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., March 12.—The Binghamton Press today issued a four page paper, although all the printers employed by the publishing company are on strike.

GREATEST FOES

Every household should have its life guards. The need of them is especially great when diseases, the greatest foes of life, find allies in the very elements, as colds, influenza, catarrh, the grip, and pneumonia do in this stormy month.

The best way to guard against these diseases is to strengthen the system with Hood's Sarsaparilla—one of the greatest of all life guards. It removes the conditions in which these diseases make their most successful attack, gives vigor and tone to the vital organs and functions, and imparts a general warmth to the blood.

Remember, the weaker the system the greater the exposure to disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the system strong.

If the liver is torpid or the bowels are sluggish, causing biliousness or constipation, Hood's Pills will be found of great service. They are especially made to be taken with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

PAT MORAN BELIEVES HIS REDS WILL BE UP THERE IN NATIONAL LEAGUE RACE; GIANTS LOOK BIG

NEW YORK, March 11.—"We are going to have a mighty good ball club and the I look for opposition I think the Reds will be in the thick of the next pennant race."

This greeting came to the International News Service today from far away Cisco, Texas, where Patrick Moran is whipping the Cincinnati Reds into shape for the next National League derby.

"I'm much encouraged over the outlook for the former world's champions," Moran continued, "despite the fact that we are troubled with holdouts. Rousch, Groh, Kopf and Dauter have refused to sign contracts so far but I am not going to yield a dollar to any of them as they have already been offered liberal contracts. The recruits in camp are showing so well that the holdouts have not been missed as yet, and with more than a score of players working out every day, the Reds are making real progress in the way of conditioning."

"Naturally I can't say just now how the team will line up when the bell rings. Our catching staff is strong. With Bubbles Hargreaves, star St. Paul backstop in the American Association last year to share the work with Ivy Wingo and Tom Conway, our staff is stronger than ever."

"Ten pitchers getting ready fixes us well in the box. I expect great things from Rixey and Marquard and their coming to our club makes our south paw staff the strongest in the league. Bressler, Coombs, Eller, Luque and Fisher, veteran right handers and in the thick of it."

"BILLY" SUNDAY HAS GOT NO USE FOR A JILTED JANE WHO SUES FOR BREACH OF PROMISE

CINCINNATI, March 11.—One of the kinds of women Evangelist Billy Sunday has no use for is the "Jane who sues for breach of promise."

He gave her what he thought was coming to her in his sermon in his tabernacle this afternoon.

If he had his way, Sunday said, he would have laws enacted that "no girl can sue a man for breach of promise unless there has been a public record that they have been engaged."

"There are too many holdups nowadays," he said, referring to women who sue for cash to heal their broken hearts.

"They are trying to put it over so they can wear a little better clothes than they could wear if they had to go out and earn them," he said.

What "gets" Sunday is that a "girl can change her mind about getting married to a fellow—and nothing happens."

"I never could see why a man hasn't just as good a right to change his mind as a woman," he exclaimed.

Then he turned to "Ma Sunday," who sits on the platform.

"We've been married how long, Ma?" he asked.

"Fifth day of September, 1888," said "Ma."

Continuing, Evangelist Sunday said, "If you are willing to walk in the path of righteousness don't get up and sing. Where he leads me I will follow, and turn off at the first bypath. Nat at all."

Then Billy Sunday turned about dying. He doesn't like to die, but he is not afraid, he said.

"I think when my time comes to die I'll put up an awful argument to try and convince God that it wouldn't hurt to let me stay a little longer," he concluded.

I don't want to die. But I'm not afraid to. I always think there is something wrong with a fellow who wants to shuffle off. I want to beat the undertaker as long as I can."

Then, seeing someone pull out a watch, Sunday said: "It makes me sick to see some fellow yank out his watch as if I were trespassing on his time. If you want to pull a gun on me, all right. But don't pull a watch."

While Sunday has expressed the opinion that the total of the contributions in Cincinnati thus far are not what they should be, he adds emphatically that he is not giving any thought to that phase of the revival.

The contributions are small, he said, "but will grow."

The total collections yesterday afternoon were $154, but the amount at the night service was $640.74.

"On the Prussian-Hessian branch of the Federal railroads no less than 228,975 cases of theft were established during the year 1920," announces the Lokal Anzeiger. These cases are divided as follows:

Hand baggage, 7,842 pieces; baggage, trunks, etc., 82,701 pieces; express, 6,246 pieces; freight, 124,678 pieces; freight car contents, 17,509 cars.

"Of these losses, in 17,140 cases, the thieves were apprehended; of this number 8,896 were stolen by railroad employees. For theft, profiteering and bribery, 5,770 railroad employees were discharged during the year 1920."

The name of the studio is sought in order that a question of O'Connor's identity may be settled. It is asserted that the dead man really is Governor Kirkman, who was a cobbler here in 1864 and deserted his wife, Mary, in Camden, Ohio, in 1869.

A four-year-old son was found out to a widow in Rainville, Ind., and this boy now is claiming the estate. He lives in Chariton, Iowa.

A reward of $100 has been offered for the name of the studio taking the O'Connor picture or for another photograph thru which the estate can be settled.

HOMER, Ill., March 12.—A defaced photograph with studio inscription "000 left by John O'Connor, who died 1905 except for '102 Main street," is recently at Hastings, Neb.

FACTS ABOUT OPTOMETRY
By
OTIS G. MORSE
NUMBER THIRTY OF THE SERIES

The purpose of this series of articles has been to make an attempt to familiarize the public in this locality of the scope, educational requirements and benefit of Optometry to the public. If we have succeeded the benefit to the public will be far greater than the benefit to us.

Because we realize that this profession, while still relatively young, is of paramount value economically and physically or visually.

If you have reason to suspect that you would be better in any way for interviewing an Optometrist, do so in the knowledge that he is thoroughly competent to render you the service which your defects of vision, if any, demand.

Do not place merely a mercantile value upon his services. Rather consider that his ability to determine the character and extent of your visual defects are what you principally desire. Then wear the glasses which he supplies as he advises.

NATIVES OF LOGANLOGAN, March 12.—An oil gusher was struck on the William Wadsworth farm, nine miles south of here yesterday by the Ford Co. of Logan.
The drill was only a few feet in the sand when the oil came up with a rush. Much of the surrounding territory was flooded before workmen could place temporary tanks in position to catch the oil.
Members of the company said the well will be drilled deeper and shot when the flow subsides sufficiently.
Oil excitement, as a result of the strike, is running high in the neighborhood. It is the first well sunk in that territory.Rats Used Bankroll to Feather Their Nest
INDIANA HARBOR, Ind., March 12.—
Mysterious robberies in Anthony McQuik's soft drink parlor were solved recently when police found a rat nest made of $103 in bills.
McQuik's had just placed $92 in a cigar box when he turned to make change for a customer. When he came back the money was gone. Po-lishman John Bergesha lined up everybody in the place and searched them. None had even $20, however.
Then a search was made of the entire store, its cellar and garret. The searchers were about to give up when a squeak from a raft was heard.
Twelve baby rats were nibbling at the edges of McQuik's $92 roll. They had eaten $167 worth before he resued it.Has Long Title
But Short Salary
MARTINS FERRY, Mar. 12.—
Health Officer W. S. Tilton is on the warpath.
For the princely salary of $1 a year he permitted the State Health Board to call him "assistant collaborating epidemiologist," a title conferred a year ago without solicitation.
He says his salary is almost due and that unless the pay check comes soon he will give up the title, altho he has just learned to pronounce the whole of it.

YOU MUST SEE

BARBARA, only daughter of the Doctor, played by Claire Adams. Barbara, who maintains her own studio and has developed a reputation as a sculptress is beset by an overpowering desire to model a statue whose strength and originality would establish fame. She finds in Blizzard a subject incredibly bizarre, with a face that is cruelty incarnate. He poses in her studio for her bust of "Satan," and thus gains the first step in the fiendish revenge he has been planning upon her father. Claire Adams gives a splendid performance, notable for its repression and clean-cut characterization.

Ferneau to enter a vacant house where he assaulted her.

Altho shot three times, Officer Ryan, who was taken to a hospital, is expected to recover.

Citizens poured into the downtown business section after the shooting which occurred in the Yellow Springs district. Later, however, the white men dispersed peacefully and fears of the formation of a mob, went on wreaking vengeance upon the negro population, were allayed for the time being.

Ryan, it is claimed, was shot by a negro who was being searched for firearms. Race disorders followed in the Yellow Springs negro district. Five negroes are said to have been shot, one man, Shirley Shaffer, being taken to a hospital, in an effort to apprehend Officer Ryan's assailant, every available officer was detailed to service in the Yellow Springs district.

Shots are said to have been exchanged between officers and negroes who stood behind trees and buildings, firing in the dark and making use of nearby street lights. It was reported that about 14 negroes were hit.

Caught scattering dynamite near the negro section, a white man was arrested.

Before the police broke up a large crowd of white men and boys in the downtown section, the crowd had threatened to storm the jail and city hall.

Soon after the trouble started, Mayor Westcott ordered pool rooms and soft drink places closed, directed citizens not to carry firearms and decreed that all business houses remain closed until 5 o'clock this evening.

In an effort to get out of harm's way, many negroes climbed up trees while others it is said left the city by the interurban line and autos. The machine gun companies have mounted machine guns around the county jail.

Every precaution is being taken to prevent the large Saturday afternoon and night crowds from causing more trouble here today.

Each poultry committee was directed to secure a place for holding the two poultry culling schools in their township to be conducted by the county agent, and also to secure a place for holding two poultry culling demonstrations in the same township following the demonstration by the county agent and report the names of the men on whose farms these demonstrations were located before May 1.

owner of the hospital where he died, according to testimony to be presented by the state.

"For God's sake don't tell any one. Save my wife and little ones," Hamon told Hardy as he was being assisted to a room. Freeing told the jury.

At the conclusion of Attorney General Freeing's address J. S. Muir, of Ardmore, first witness for the state, took the stand. He said Hamon came to Ardmore in 1912 to promote a railroad to run west of the city to the oil fields. He said he first met the defendant in the latter part of August, 1913, and that she was a sort of a stenographer to Hamon and that she occupied that position for several months.

He further said he had seen Hamon and Clara Smith together on several occasions and knew the number of rooms occupied by Hamon and the girl. He stated they took these rooms shortly after the beginning of the building of the railroad in 1912 and that they kept the rooms continuously since that time. Upon cross-examination the witness said Hamon had always called the defendant by her first name, Clara, and that the relations between Hamon and the girl were carried on up until the time Hamon was shot.

Mike Gorman, the second witness testified that when he called at the hotel suite occupied by Hamon and the defendant he found Hamon in his room with the accused woman standing facing the oil king. He said the girl had something in her right hand. He said he thought it was a small pistol. The defense objected to this testimony as incompetent. Attorney General Freeing said that he sought to show Mr. Gorman that the girl had been in the habit of carrying a pistol.

The defense's objection was overruled. Dr. E. C. Harlow, an optician, testified that the accused woman came into his office about a month before the shooting. He said when she opened her handbag, he saw a small pistol in it. He said the girl took it out to get some money and

GERMANS SATISFIED

"We are resolved not to recede from the line we have chosen. Replying to criticism that the military and economic penalties against Germany will prove ineffectual the premier said:—

"They will soon show their efficiency."

The results of the London conference were discussed at a cabinet meeting this afternoon when the Premier made a report. The minister considered the reply which will be made to the government interpellations in the chamber of deputies early next week.

The debate in the chamber is expected to lead to a confidence vote on Thursday. Members of the minority believe the government will get an overwhelming majority on the turn of the indemnity situation has taken. The outcome of the London conference is accepted as a big victory for France and for the French policy toward Germany. The importance of separating the Rhineland from Germany and linking it closer to France economically is emphasized in dispatches to the Matin and the Echo d'Paris today. Stephen Lauzanne, Editor of the Matin pointed out that amounts gained by the seizure of German custom houses and the establishment of a customs frontier along the Rhine will not exceed fifty million gold marks ($12,500,000) annually. He suggests that the allies extend their sanctions or penalties to include seizure of the coal mines in the Ruhr basin and the great Rhineland forests are the property of the German government.

M. Lauzanne estimated, that, not only would the new duties increase the French customs levy to five hundred million gold marks annually, but that "The moral effect of separating Germany from her richest province would be enormous."

On the other hand Gustave Hervey, writing in The La Victoire, warns nationalists against the success of the scheme declaring it would give Germany a legitimate right to wage a future war of revenge. He pointed to the case of Alsace Lorraine as an example.

The allied program is expected to be fully arranged in four days. It is probable that the heavy tax imposed upon other German goods except food will have the effect of turning the people of the Rhineland from the German to the French markets for their purchases.

Five Burn To Death

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., Mar. 12 — Five persons are reported to have been burned to death in a fire which early today destroyed a building at Clinton, Okla.

OBITUARY OF MRS. ELIJAH WEST

Mrs. Ida Ellen West, nee Close, daughter of Samuel and Hannah Close was born January 7, 1866, departed this life March 12, 1921, aged 55 years, 1 month and 25 days. She was united in marriage to Mr. William Prizell of Bloomfield May 19, 1885 (Clark). To this union were born three children: Jessie Gay, Guy and Leona, all three of whom survive. She suffered the loss of this, her first husband by death April 8, 1909.

She was again married to Elijah West, July 20, 1917. They have since made their home practically all the time at Conestoga.

During the time of her widowhood, Mrs. West united with the M. E. church at Clark, and never had removed her membership from that place. She always stood ready to lend a helping hand in death, sickness or in any time of need, and provided a patient sufferer during her last illness. Her final release comes to the community a true companion, a faithful and devoted mother, and a friend in need.

Up until a year or so ago Mrs. West was a strong and rugged lady. Having been pressed by the necessity of life while left alone with a family and in other circumstances of life, she really shortened her life by hard work, and finally succumbed to a severe case of typhoid, having been sick about three weeks.

There remains to mourn the departure of this sister, her mother, Mrs. Hannah Close, Bloomfield, her husband, three brothers, William Close and Sylvester Close of the Bloomfield vicinity, and Ward Close, Killbuck, four sisters, Delilah Crosskey, Mansfield, Mary Jane Lyle, Millersburg, Mrs. Maggie Hocksworth, Killbuck, and Virginia Close of Buffalo, N. Y., one son, Guy Prizell, Layland, two daughters, Mrs. E. E. West, Fresno, Mrs. Harney Treese, Bloomfield, and three grandchildren, besides other more distant relatives and a host of friends.

TO GIVE WILSON THE INTEREST ON A $500,000 FUND

NEW YORK, March 11.—The nationwide tribute to Woodrow Wilson which has been proposed by a number of his admirers, both men and women, will probably take the form of a $500,000 fund to be contributed in small amounts, the interest on which will be devoted to rewarding the one who during the year has done the greatest service to humanity.

This plan is modeled after the Nobel peace prize project.

The nature of this service is to be defined by Mr. Wilson, who has been told of the project and has expressed himself as deeply appreciative of the honor paid him and of the purpose for which the money is to be used.

The idea originated with some of the women admirers of Mr. Wilson who worked in the last campaign to gain support for the League of Nations, and who believes that in this and his other service to the country while president, Mr. Wilson served humanity as have few other men.

A meeting is to be held at the Hotel Biltmore next Tuesday afternoon at which the plan will be discussed by those interested in it. Mrs. Charles Tiffany and George Foster Peabody are two of the most ardent supporters of the project. Others are Hamilton Holt, Thomas W. Lamont, Charles P. Howland, Edwin R. A. Seligman, Mrs. Malcolm Forbes, Miss Caroline Rutz-Rees, Mrs. Otto Wittmann, Cleveland H. Dodge, Frank L. Pol, Mrs. Montgomery Hare and Mrs. Borden Harrison.

FEAST OF PURIM TO BE OBSERVED

The Feast of Purim, which falls due March 24, will be the occasion for special services in the synagogues on the evening previous, according to Jewish practice, and also on the morning of that day. The celebration of Purim, aside from the synagogue service, is in itself a festival. In an Jewish families and Jewish circles the festive spirit is emphasized. Whatever social activities are arranged are in keeping with the spirit of the holiday.

A Purim dance is planned for Wednesday evening, the 23rd, under the auspices of the Order of B'nai Brith and the invitations will include the members and their families and friends. The event will take place in the Masonic temple and the hours are from 8 to 12.

SYNAGOGUE SERVICES

The services arranged for this festival are associated in the synagogue with the reading of the Book of Esther. On this day the Jewish people remember the miracle: redemption wrought for their ancestors through the fidelity and devotion of Mordecai, uncle of Queen Esther. According to the Book of Esther, Haman plotted to destroy the Jews throughout the provinces of the vast Persian empire. The day for the terrible slaughter had been proclaimed, but by means of the courageous intervention of Mordecai and Esther, the murderous designs of the persecutor were brot to naught.

Throughout all ages the Jewish people have felt that the incidents narrated in the Book of Esther reflected their own career and at all times they confidently trusted in the God of their fathers who was the rock of their refuge: whenever men rose up against them. Under His guidance they have waged an age-long combat against error and malice to the end that ultimately persecution and prejudice might everywhere be uprooted. Coupled with this faith was the hope that here on earth, the footsteps of God, men and women from all zones and under all skies would pay homage to God as the sole ruler of all worlds.

The celebration of Purim is always in the joyful vein. In all Jewish families and Jewish circles the festive spirit is emphasized. Whatever social activities are arranged are participated in by people who feel that it is their duty to give themselves as well as efforts to those whose lot has not fallen in pleasant places.

Youngest Woman Minister Believes In Short Prayers

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Mar. 12—The youngest minister in Illinois believes in brevity of prayer. And "it" is a woman.

The Rev. Norma Brown, twenty-one years old, pastor of the Christian Church at Carlock, Ill., recently startled the Legislature here by delivering the shortest invocation on record—less than 150 words.

"I always make my invocations brief," explained the girl pastor. And Senator Simon E. Lantz, a member of Miss Brown's congregation, added that she is more energetic in her work among her flock than most male preachers.

Miss Brown is the daughter and granddaughter of ex-governors. Her father, the Rev. R. D. Brown, is pastor of the Centennial Christian Church, Bloomington, Ill. Her grandfather, the Rev. R. L. Brown, has a church at Wapella Ill.

Crissinger Confirmed

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The senate this afternoon confirmed the nomination of D. R. Crissinger, of Marion, Ohio, as Comptroller of the Currency and Walter Lyon, of Pittsburgh, as U. S. District Attorney for the western district of Pennsylvania.

SENDS HIS SILK SHIRTS 3300 MILES TO BE LAUNDERED

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 12.—Thirty-three hundred miles to the laundry. Forty or more silk shirts—ten coming, ten going, ten in the wash and ten on hand to wear.

That, in brief, is the program followed by D. M. Dobbs, a hotel guest here, when he desires to have his shirts laundered.

It had the baggage man at the hotel guessing. Why should a man send his laundry 3,000 miles to be washed? Every week a package went out and every week one came back.

However—

"I own the laundry at New Haven, Conn., where the shirts are sent," explained Mr. Dobbs. "When the shirts come back I know the quality of the work that has been done, if things are being kept up to standard at home. It takes a laundryman to read a history in a clean shirt."

A CURIOUS PLACE TO FIND TEETH

PARIS, March 12.—A woman with a complete set of teeth in her right eyeball has been found in Paris, according to a report made before the Academy of Medicine by Prof. De Lapedosse. The woman went to the doctor because of a pain in the right eye, and the X-ray revealed the presence of the teeth. The professor does not know whether it will be possible to extract the teeth without destroying the sight.

GOMPERS DENOUNCES DETECTIVE AGENCIES

BOSTON, Mar. 12.—"Fully eighty percent of the activities of private detective agencies is in fomenting labor troubles," declared Samuel Gompers, president of the A. F. of L. today. "These detective agencies are hired by employers of labor to foment trouble among their workers and lead them to make demands that are unreasonable and fall in their purpose, giving labor another black eye."

Congress should investigate this urged the veteran labor chief. "Organized labor will resist by every means in powers in the effort to reduce wages," he told interviewers.
